We're here to make care personal

"I was so touched as everyone made it special for me"

Carole Falkner from Tollerton

The Hospice team learned of Carole missing a planned afternoon tea and arranged for a surprise one on the balcony of her room at the Hospice with her daughter, Lucy.

We're here wherever we're needed

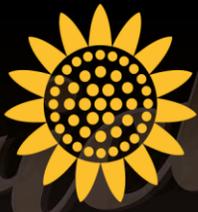

"On behalf of my Dad and our family, I write to express our gratitude for the help we received from your wonderful Hospice@Home team in looking after my mother. On account of the dedicated support from the Hospice, and district nurses, we were able to fulfil mum's wish that she remain and die peacefully at home."

We're here for our local community

"I would have really struggled without this service, as I had no idea what was happening to me."

Coping with grief is a challenge everyone has to face – but not alone. Our highly experienced bereavement support team is here to help – free of charge, and you don't need a connection to the Hospice.

We're here to give patients a voice

“It felt it was a unique opportunity to be able to put something on record to say “it was me.”

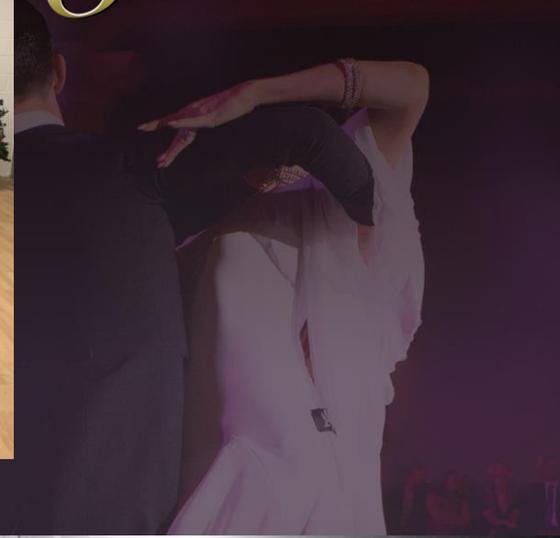

Ken, who had terminal cancer, decided to use our Hospice Biographers service to record a voice message to be played to relatives and friends at his funeral.

We're here for the moments that matter

One of our patients, Mike, married his partner of 13 years, Manuel. Mike was cared for by our Hospice@Home team. The ceremony took place at home and attended by family. Our team helped Mike prepare for the big day by helping him with his suit and ensuring he was freshly shaved and ready to say "I do".

The show must go on Class of 2020
finally perform in 2021

We're here to offer comfort

Comfort boxes are used when a child or young person has an adult in their life cared for by St Leonard's Hospice, either through our Hospice@Home community service or in our In-Patient Unit. They are given at a time when life can feel very frightening, uncertain and emotionally overwhelming and are used to provide wellbeing care before and after the death of a loved one. They help provide an opportunity for children to be seen and heard.

Dancers you have been amazing!

Chris, the best dance teacher anyone could wish for.
You are patient, kind and extremely funny!

Team 2020, what a journey it has been.
